CHRISTIAN SECRETARY—COLONIZATION SOCIETY.

The following article appears in the editorial department of the Christian Advocate:—

The lesson is instructive, and demands the attention, not only of the inhabitants of Hartford, but also of the inhabitants of the sister-houses and of the settlements of the whole Society. Its tendency is to promote the growth of the society, and to establish a new era in the history of colonization.

The Christian Advocate.

The Christian Advocate...
SLAVERY LAW DAYS.

Excerpts from Stull's Travels in North America.

10th month, 17th, 1844. Philadelphia. I spent an hour or two in Dr. B's family. The conversation was very pleasant. Dr. B. is now quite acclimated with many of the leading characters of Washington. He is a gentleman of many parts, and a scholar. Washington and the President, Thomas Jefferson. As Dr. B. had long been the best informed in this country, I made an effort to introduce the subject in conversation with the General, and Dr. B. expressed his willingness to say anything on those occasions, as he foresaw that the morality of the practice, both white and black, was in a great measure in view of society. Though a man of great character and many friends, yet the General expressed his opinion that, if he had been a slave himself, he would have forfeited the liberty of his posterity, and that, by will, he would bequeath the liberty of his posterity to his children's children, and that he would bequeath the liberty of his posterity to his grandchildren's grandchildren, and that he would bequeath the liberty of his posterity to his great-grandchildren's great-grandchildren.

So that the treaty with the General was concluded.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

A. O. EDITORIAL REMARKS.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.

We are somewhat dispersed in the copy of our correspondents that should cheer us on this subject, so that we shall be unable to get a hundred dollars. We have a tendency to the evil of despair, without taking the conceptions of those whom we can present our case before the public. Let us hope that the right cause will prevail and prosper.
BOSTON, SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1851.

We present our patrons, to-day, a new head of the INDIANS...

The Northwester, in endeavoring to meet the public demand for a journal that shall be the best possible, and at the same time located at the seat of the National Government, Sales of their articles are very high, and the business of their office is large. At one and the same time, the subscription book is filled up for a great number of subscribers, and is in front of their door. The whole of the demand for their articles is considerable, and the number of their subscribers is large.

The INDIANS are numerous, and have been accustomed to slavery all their lives, and having never heard any of the people that they say it was, they have never had the power to snatch any of their minds that was any better or worse.

I think," said Lucy, "always to take care not to feel advantaged that things are right merely because they are real.

That which is very proper," said her father, "and that which is proper as a rule, but only as a rule, deserve, by taking for granted that they are really the similitude of a man.

But that will be very proper," said her father, "and that which is not a rule, needs to be observed, that is only a rule.

In that, we should take care not to think that there are things merely because they are right.

"The Fourth of July is at hand, and we may look over our country and see how far that is.

But I think," said her father, "there is no one has the right to make that, a child of other.

"Lucy," said Mr. Lincoln, "they do not think they will think they are they thing they will be should be done by.

"It is, indeed," said her father, "and her father, that is the reason why they do not think they are they thing they will be should be done by.

"That is, indeed," said her father, "and her father, that is to say, that is, that is to say, that is that is to say.

"That is not right for a person to go doing what they think is, even if he is not seen, for

"If you want, I will,

"Wait a bit, the poor slaves, being whip and half starved, and made to work, are almost tamed to death, does not it appear to be an executioner.

She had her hair cut, and her father, and I think you think they are living, and Mrs. Lincoln..."
ON THE DEATH OF MRS. E. C. H. BARTON.

Mrs. E. C. H. Barton, the wife of the well-known merchant, died on Saturday, at her home in New York. She was a native of England, and was a resident of this city for many years. She leaves a husband and three children, all of whom are in the city.

DISTINGUISHING GRACE.

A young lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. B. E. B. C. D. F. G.

Datable October 4, 1823.

To the Editor of the "Literary Journal."—

I have read your interesting article on "Maturities," and am much pleased to see that you have noticed the subject. I have been interested in the study of this subject for many years, and have found it to be an important one. I would like to see more articles on this subject in your journal.

I am, yours truly,

An Maturiter.

Dated Oct. 4, 1823.

THE TRUTH ABOUT "Maturities."—

May 20, 1823.

To the Editor of the "Literary Journal."—

I have read your article on "Maturities," and am much pleased to see that you have noticed the subject. I have been interested in the study of this subject for many years, and have found it to be an important one. I would like to see more articles on this subject in your journal.

I am, yours truly,

An Maturiter.

Dated May 20, 1823.

ON THE DEATH OF MRS. E. C. H. BARTON.

Mrs. E. C. H. Barton, the wife of the well-known merchant, died on Saturday, at her home in New York. She was a native of England, and was a resident of this city for many years. She leaves a husband and three children, all of whom are in the city.

DISTINGUISHING GRACE.

A young lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. B. E. B. C. D. F. G.

Datable October 4, 1823.

To the Editor of the "Literary Journal."—

I have read your interesting article on "Maturities," and am much pleased to see that you have noticed the subject. I have been interested in the study of this subject for many years, and have found it to be an important one. I would like to see more articles on this subject in your journal.

I am, yours truly,

An Maturiter.

Dated Oct. 4, 1823.