THE LIBERATOR.

WILLIAM ELOYD GARRISON AND ISAAC N. HAWKINS. PUBLISHERS.

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

OUR COUNTRY IS THE WORLD—OUR COUNTRYMEN, ALL MANKIND.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1832.

Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance. No subscription received in a shorter period than six months.

THE LIBERATOR.

IN WASHINGTON.

The only means of obtaining the greatest benefit from the Colored Taxation Society is by the formation of a strong political party.

We, the undersigned, hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

We, the undersigned, hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

The undersigned hereby declare our adherence to the principles of the Colored Taxation Society, and will support any measures that may be taken for the furtherance of the same.

THE LIBERATOR.
TODAY'S LIBERATOR.

From the N.Y. Daily Advertiser.

INSCRIPTION OF THE SLAVES IN JAPAN.

By the legation, Court of Japan, we have been informed of a request from the legation, expressing the intention of inscribing the names of the slaves belonging to the same owner, that they may be more easily recognized in the future. The request was made by the legation, Court of Japan, and was referred to the legation, Court of Japan, for further instructions. The legation, Court of Japan, has been requested to give information as to the names of the slaves belonging to the same owner. The request was made by the legation, Court of Japan, for further instructions.

TO THE FRIENDS OF IMMEDIATE EMANCIPATION.

A movement of the desire of the people to be freed from the shackles of slavery is on the increase. The object of which this movement is to be accomplished, is to enable the people to acquire a greater share of the blessings of life, and a more equal share in the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship. The object of this movement is to be accomplished, is to enable the people to acquire a greater share of the blessings of life, and a more equal share in the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship.

By the legation, Court of Japan, we have been informed of a request from the legation, expressing the intention of inscribing the names of the slaves belonging to the same owner, that they may be more easily recognized in the future. The request was made by the legation, Court of Japan, and was referred to the legation, Court of Japan, for further instructions. The legation, Court of Japan, has been requested to give information as to the names of the slaves belonging to the same owner. The request was made by the legation, Court of Japan, for further instructions.

A movement of the desire of the people to be freed from the shackles of slavery is on the increase. The object of which this movement is to be accomplished, is to enable the people to acquire a greater share of the blessings of life, and a more equal share in the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship. The object of this movement is to be accomplished, is to enable the people to acquire a greater share of the blessings of life, and a more equal share in the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship.

courtesy of University of Chicago Libraries

The law is a narrow principle, because it is not the means of a great community to be left to itself unassisted to improve its institutions. A narrow principle in this respect is to be regarded as an instrument of disorganization, which, in the end, will promote the end it is intended to prevent.

The Jefferson administration was characterized by a strong belief in the Constitution and in the principles of the Revolution. It was a time of great change, as the country moved from a war footing to the peace of the new nation. The issues of the time were complex, and the federal government was often at odds with the states. The states' rights movement was gaining momentum, and the country was divided over issues such as tariffs, slavery, and the role of the federal government.

The 1800s were a time of great expansion and change, and the nation was on the brink of its industrial revolution. The country was growing rapidly, and new industries were springing up across the country. The government was struggling to find its place in this new world, and the nation was divided over the direction it should take.

In this period, the country was also facing significant challenges, such as the War of 1812 and the expansion of slavery into the Western territories. These issues would continue to shape the country for years to come, and the Jefferson administration was a period of great change and transformation.
LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS, AND MORAL.

LINES
ON SEENING A LITTLE CHILD AT CHURCH.
Millions of the humblest born, have seen Who, hark! what joyous sounds are born, From mom to mom, who, hark! we hear How sweet the sounds of weeping are. The sight does not deceive the eye, The sound does not deceive the ear.

Missessellaways.
[STAND FROM UNDER!]

For a new and grand effect I bring To the stage the theme of life's great scene, Where no one side is right or wrong, Where all are equal in the sight of God.

In the world of men and with its fates, Where every man is but a drop in the sea, And no one side of truth is right or wrong,

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies,

And here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.

Here is a scene where all must end, Where each must go his way and die,

Until the end of time, when all must pass, And all must die, and all must rise.

And here is a fate where none can rise Again to reach the skies.