LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

TO A GENTLEMAN AND LADY.

The following is a letter written by a gentleman and lady of rank and fashion, on the subject of their arrival in a foreign land.

TO A GENTLEMAN AND LADY.

My dear friends,

I write to you from our residence in Italy, and I am happy in the knowledge that you are enjoying health and happiness in your new home. We have been here for some time, and my wife and I have been much pleased with the beauty of the country and the kindness of the people.

We have been spending our time in visiting the various cities and towns, and we have seen many interesting sights. We have been to Venice, Florence, Rome, and many other places, and we have been much affected by the beauty of the scenery and the grandeur of the buildings.

We have also been much pleased with the hospitality of the people. They have been kind and generous to us, and we have been much impressed with their goodness.

SACRED SUNDAY.

It was our custom,

That on the third day after the Sabbath, we should assemble together for the purpose of worship.

We would read the word of God, and pray for the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

We would also sing praises and offer sacrifices to the Lord.

At the close of the service, we would bless each other and return to our homes.

Thus ended the day of rest, and we returned to our homes to begin the week of work.
