
Mr. Dean,—To the President of this Institution, I have the honor to make this, an additional and final, call on you and the Senate of this University to secure the admission of William Lloyd Garrison, the man who, in his public career, has for about forty years been the foremost advocate of the American abolition movement, and the first and greatest of American publicists. In that capacity, and in the public causes which he advocated, he has done more to shape the political and social history of the nation than any other man who is now living. He has been the chief promoter of the great cause of human freedom, and has in fact anticipated and prepared the way for the abolition of slavery in the United States.

I have the honor to be, etc.,

WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON.

[Endorsed: "Received, May 30th, 1859."

To the Editor of the Liberator.

Sir,—The accompanying letters, which have been addressed to the President of the Harvard University, will probably reach you before this, but I have felt it incumbent on me to send you, at the same time, a few lines from myself, which I beg to enclose in the present communication.

[Endorsed: "To Mr. William Lloyd Garrison, May 30th, 1859."

To the Editor of the Liberator.

Sir,—I have the honor to inform you, that the committee of the American Antislavery Society, which has been appointed to investigate the character and condition of William Lloyd Garrison, has completed its labors, and have determined to recommend to the society the admission of Mr. Garrison into the Society, as a member. They have also determined to present him with a suitable testimonial, as a mark of respect and esteem.

I have the honor to be, etc.,

WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON.

The Editors of the New York Observer oblige us with a confirmation of the proposition that the question of the American Civil War will soon close. They think that the million men who have been engaged in the conflict are not likely to return to the habit of voting. It is highly probable that the sectional question will only be settled in a manner that will satisfy all parties. The sectional question will probably be settled in a manner that will satisfy all parties. It is highly probable that the sectional question will only be settled in a manner that will satisfy all parties. The sectional question will probably be settled in a manner that will satisfy all parties.

The present state of the American Civil War is such that the conflict is likely to be ended in a manner that will satisfy all parties.
