THE LIBERATOR.

THE PROJECTS OF SLAVE LABOR.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1851.

NEW ENGLAND ANTI-SLAVERY NEWS.

Anti-Slavery News from the Delta - a circular letter of 1849 from Mr. Robert Purvis of Baltimore, occasioned by the outbreak of the war between the American and British navies, to which he was a contributing cause. Mr. Purvis, who was a prominent abolitionist, had recently died in New York. His death was a great loss to the anti-slavery movement. He was a man of great learning and ability, and his influence was felt throughout the country.

Henry Ward Beecher, the famous abolitionist, has recently published a book entitled "The Freedom of the Press," in which he argues that the press is essential to the free exercise of political liberties. The book has been well received, and is likely to have a wide influence.

In other news, the anti-slavery movement continues to grow stronger. The number of subscribers to the "Liberator" has increased significantly in the past year, and the movement has gained support from many prominent politicians and religious leaders.

C.P.F.
JOURNAL OF THE TIMES.

FEARLESS AND UNAFFECTED.

FEMALE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

The Jubilee of the Society. Its progress.

OF TEMPERANCE.

The Progress of the Society.

TO MY FRIEND.

The Declaration.

THE ABOLITIONIST.

OCTOBER, 1853.

MISS SARA P. PAUL.

J. T. A. JOHNSON.

THE ARMS.

COFFEE.

FOREST FOLK.

DEBTS.

THE ROCKS.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

THE ABOLITIONISTS.

THE ARMS.

FEMALE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

The Jubilee of the Society. Its progress.

OF TEMPERANCE.

The Progress of the Society.

TO MY FRIEND.

The Declaration.

THE ABOLITIONIST.

OCTOBER, 1853.

MISS SARA P. PAUL.

J. T. A. JOHNSON.

THE ARMS.

COFFEE.

FOREST FOLK.

DEBTS.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

THE ARMS.

FEMALE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

The Jubilee of the Society. Its progress.

OF TEMPERANCE.

The Progress of the Society.

TO MY FRIEND.

The Declaration.

THE ABOLITIONIST.

OCTOBER, 1853.

MISS SARA P. PAUL.

J. T. A. JOHNSON.

THE ARMS.

COFFEE.

FOREST FOLK.

DEBTS.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

THE ARMS.

FEMALE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

The Jubilee of the Society. Its progress.

OF TEMPERANCE.

The Progress of the Society.

TO MY FRIEND.

The Declaration.

THE ABOLITIONIST.

OCTOBER, 1853.

MISS SARA P. PAUL.

J. T. A. JOHNSON.

THE ARMS.

COFFEE.

FOREST FOLK.

DEBTS.

THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

THE ARMS.
LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

Nearly a thousand young men, on the 30th of September, took the last step in their educational course at the University of Virginia. The assembling of this number together produced a scene at the time of the exercises that was never before witnessed, and showed a grand display of the power of the University, in proportion to the number of its students. The assembly was orderly, and the sitting was respectful and correct, and the exercises were attended with considerable attention from the students. The university is situated on the banks of the James River, two miles from the town of Richmond. The college is of the same size as the university, and embraces a uniform number of students.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, which is now being conducted at London, and to which the United States is the only country which has sent a large number of works of industry, is now in full progress. The exhibits are in a very great variety of materials, and are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner. The United States is represented by a large number of works of industry, including a number of machines, and a number of machines and instruments, and a number of works of art, and a number of works of science. The exhibits are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner, and are shown to the public in a very interesting manner.

THE BOAT MAN'S DEATH.

James B. Brown, a boatman, was drowned in the James River, near Richmond, on the 20th of September. He was a member of the Virginia State Boatmen's Association, and had been employed in the business for many years. He was a man of good character and reputation, and was well known in the city. The loss of Mr. Brown is a great loss to the boatmen of the city, and is a great loss to the city itself.

LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

Nearly a thousand young men, on the 30th of September, took the last step in their educational course at the University of Virginia. The assembling of this number together produced a scene at the time of the exercises that was never before witnessed, and showed a grand display of the power of the University, in proportion to the number of its students. The university is situated on the banks of the James River, two miles from the town of Richmond. The college is of the same size as the university, and embraces a uniform number of students.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, which is now being conducted at London, and to which the United States is the only country which has sent a large number of works of industry, is now in full progress. The exhibits are in a very great variety of materials, and are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner. The United States is represented by a large number of works of industry, including a number of machines, and a number of machines and instruments, and a number of works of art, and a number of works of science. The exhibits are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner, and are shown to the public in a very interesting manner.

THE BOAT MAN'S DEATH.

James B. Brown, a boatman, was drowned in the James River, near Richmond, on the 20th of September. He was a member of the Virginia State Boatmen's Association, and had been employed in the business for many years. He was a man of good character and reputation, and was well known in the city. The loss of Mr. Brown is a great loss to the boatmen of the city, and is a great loss to the city itself.

LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

Nearly a thousand young men, on the 30th of September, took the last step in their educational course at the University of Virginia. The assembling of this number together produced a scene at the time of the exercises that was never before witnessed, and showed a grand display of the power of the University, in proportion to the number of its students. The university is situated on the banks of the James River, two miles from the town of Richmond. The college is of the same size as the university, and embraces a uniform number of students.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, which is now being conducted at London, and to which the United States is the only country which has sent a large number of works of industry, is now in full progress. The exhibits are in a very great variety of materials, and are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner. The United States is represented by a large number of works of industry, including a number of machines, and a number of machines and instruments, and a number of works of art, and a number of works of science. The exhibits are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner, and are shown to the public in a very interesting manner.

THE BOAT MAN'S DEATH.

James B. Brown, a boatman, was drowned in the James River, near Richmond, on the 20th of September. He was a member of the Virginia State Boatmen's Association, and had been employed in the business for many years. He was a man of good character and reputation, and was well known in the city. The loss of Mr. Brown is a great loss to the boatmen of the city, and is a great loss to the city itself.

LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

Nearly a thousand young men, on the 30th of September, took the last step in their educational course at the University of Virginia. The assembling of this number together produced a scene at the time of the exercises that was never before witnessed, and showed a grand display of the power of the University, in proportion to the number of its students. The university is situated on the banks of the James River, two miles from the town of Richmond. The college is of the same size as the university, and embraces a uniform number of students.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, which is now being conducted at London, and to which the United States is the only country which has sent a large number of works of industry, is now in full progress. The exhibits are in a very great variety of materials, and are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner. The United States is represented by a large number of works of industry, including a number of machines, and a number of machines and instruments, and a number of works of art, and a number of works of science. The exhibits are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner, and are shown to the public in a very interesting manner.

THE BOAT MAN'S DEATH.

James B. Brown, a boatman, was drowned in the James River, near Richmond, on the 20th of September. He was a member of the Virginia State Boatmen's Association, and had been employed in the business for many years. He was a man of good character and reputation, and was well known in the city. The loss of Mr. Brown is a great loss to the boatmen of the city, and is a great loss to the city itself.

LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

Nearly a thousand young men, on the 30th of September, took the last step in their educational course at the University of Virginia. The assembling of this number together produced a scene at the time of the exercises that was never before witnessed, and showed a grand display of the power of the University, in proportion to the number of its students. The university is situated on the banks of the James River, two miles from the town of Richmond. The college is of the same size as the university, and embraces a uniform number of students.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, which is now being conducted at London, and to which the United States is the only country which has sent a large number of works of industry, is now in full progress. The exhibits are in a very great variety of materials, and are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner. The United States is represented by a large number of works of industry, including a number of machines, and a number of machines and instruments, and a number of works of art, and a number of works of science. The exhibits are arranged in a very systematic and interesting manner, and are shown to the public in a very interesting manner.

THE BOAT MAN'S DEATH.

James B. Brown, a boatman, was drowned in the James River, near Richmond, on the 20th of September. He was a member of the Virginia State Boatmen's Association, and had been employed in the business for many years. He was a man of good character and reputation, and was well known in the city. The loss of Mr. Brown is a great loss to the boatmen of the city, and is a great loss to the city itself.