SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1856.

AN ADDRESS.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Philadelphia, March 4, 1856.

The Editor of the Liberator.

Dear Sir—We find the Columbus, a ship of our seamen, has arrived in Philadelphia.

We are ready to send the sailors to the public for their immediate reception.

Sincerely yours,

A. W.

LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS, AND MORAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF "LIT-ERARY, MISCE-LLA-NEOUS, AND MORAL."

SIR,—I am informed that a considerable number of persons have been prevented from attending the readings of the "Anti-Slavery Emancipation Society," and in order to prevent their being exposed to the influence of their enemies, they have been insulted and abused.

I trust that the publication of this letter may tend to prevent such conduct, and that it may be answered accordingly.

With every respect,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

TO THE SAME.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, and to state that I am disposed to comply with your request.

I have also the honor to inform you that I shall be in your city at the time you propose to take effect, and that I shall be glad to answer any questions you may have.

With every respect,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

TO THE EDITOR OF "LIT-ERARY, MISCE-LLA-NEOUS, AND MORAL."

SIR,—I am informed that the society for the promotion of anti-slavery education has been formed in this city.

I trust that this letter may tend to prevent its continuance, and that it may be answered accordingly.

With every respect,

SIR,
