MR. STANTON'S SPEECH AT THE N. Y. ASSEMBLY.

Rev. Dr. Tuston, of Waukesha, Wis., of the Committee, asked, whether, when the convention of the American Anti-Slavery Society, met in the city of New York, in May last, the question of the departure of the meeting was not decided upon by the members? Why? Mr. S. said, they did agree to make their departure from New York, and that they would not be in public at the National Convention, unless they were in the heart of the city. The committee, after a long considera-

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.
LITERARY, MISCELLANEOUS AND MORAL.

DAVID O'CONNELL.

A new chapter in the history of Ireland has been opened by the movement of Sir W. E. Gladstone, and the triumph of the principles of freedom and justice. Sir W. E. Gladstone, by his speech at the Mansion House, has given a new impulse to the cause of Irish freedom. The Irish people are heartened by his words and actuated by his example. The government has been forced to yield to the pressure of public opinion, and to recognize the right of the Irish people to self-government.

The movement of Sir W. E. Gladstone is a great and glorious victory for the Irish people. It is a triumph of principle over power, of right over wrong, of justice over injustice. It is a victory for freedom and liberty, for truth and righteousness. The Irish people are right in demanding self-government, and they will not be denied it.

MOUNTAINS.

From the high lands of Scotland, where the mountains rise in grandeur, to the wastes of the Arctic, where the snows lie in eternal snow, lies the grandeur of nature. The peaks, the ridges, the glens, the valleys, the streams, the lakes, all combine to form the most magnificent spectacle in the world. The mountains are a symbol of the power of God, and a reminder of the beauty of creation.

The mountains are a source of inspiration to the诗人s and poets. They are a source of knowledge to the scientists and geologists. They are a source of wonder and awe to the humble and the wise. The mountains are a source of life to the people, who derive their livelihood from the earth and the sky.

Sunday, May 25th, 1856.