A NEW SIMPLER ALCOHOLIC.

A new invention in the matter of alcoholic drinks, has been patented by Mr. J. H. Davis, of New York. The method of preparing the new drink is simplicity itself, and it is said to be much superior to any other alcoholic beverage in the market.

The process consists in the following:

1. Boil 1 gallon of water with 1 pound of sugar until it is reduced to ½ gallon.
2. Add 1 pint of water and ½ pint of alcohol.
3. Boil for 5 minutes.
4. Strain and bottle.

The new drink is said to be very refreshing and pleasant on the palate.
