THE LIBERATOR.

OUR COUNTRY IS THE WORLD—OUR COMPATRIOTS ARE ALL MANKIND.

BOSTON, FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1840.

WHOLE NO. 500.

THE REJECTED PROSPECT.

The Journal.—Read the accompanying Proclamation from the General Assembly of the United States, in the Enslow, No. 20, and compare it with the American Constitution, as reduced to the English language. It is a remarkable instance of the power and wisdom of the people, who, by their own force, have created a government, and by their own deliberation, have framed a constitution, which they believe to be the best in the world. It is a great and important event, which will be remembered for ages to come. It is a national accomplishment, which will be the subject of future admiration. It is a national glory, which will be the subject of future praise. It is a national honor, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national pride, which will be the subject of future glory. It is a national treasure, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national blessing, which will be the subject of future gratitude.

The American Constitution is a national monument, which will be the subject of future admiration. It is a national record, which will be the subject of future praise. It is a national history, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national document, which will be the subject of future glory. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.

The American Constitution is a national possession, which will be the subject of future reverence. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future respect. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future honor. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future pride. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future greatness. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future worth. It is a national possession, which will be the subject of future esteem.