SELECTIONS.
From the Daily Evening Press.

SLAVERY IN THE UNITED STATES.

With a Judge's charge in the trial of the commissioners of our Friendship Society, in the prozess of recovering the case of Charles G. T. Musgrove, held at St. Mary's, with your editorial reflections on the subject, it is clear that the American people are not on the verge of the general bloodshed and peril which they are likely to experience if they continue to stand as they are, at the mercy of a single party, a single faction, to rule as it pleases, over the destinies of the country. It is the duty of every decent man to consider the subject, and to come to the conclusion that the best way to prevent such a result is to support our great friends and their causes, and to work for the settlement of the great question.

The following is from the Daily Evening Press:

On the eve of the Senate, it is stated that the Senate will be called together to deliberate on the subject of slavery, and that the subject will be brought up for discussion.

The Senate has already taken up the subject of slavery, and it is reported that the Senate will be called together to deliberate on the subject.
