COMMUNICATIONS:

Wisconsin Emigration Convention.

This Convention was truly a interesting one. All the usual topics were discussed; the wise and ill-conceived, the pure and the false, the right and the wrong, with the most brilliant skill and eloquence. The meeting was in the most harmonious spirit, and the debates were conducted in the most polite and dignified manner. The resolutions were adopted by a large vote, and the convention adjourned with the utmost satisfaction. The spirit in which the convention was conducted was highly commended by the public, and the Convention was hailed as a most successful one.

Rochester, Nov. 12th.

From the National Intelligencer.

As "Free" Extremists, it is known to the public that the influence of the Free Party in Congress is, and has been, on the increase. The members of this party have been actively engaged in the advocacy of free trade, and have made many important speeches and resolutions in favor of it. They have also been active in the support of the Union, and have done much to strengthen the hands of the government in maintaining its independence. The Free Party is gaining more and more support, and it is to be hoped that it will continue to do so.

New York, Nov. 13th.

Madisonian Extra.

We are informed that the Representative will be here this week, and that he will speak on the subject of free trade. He will also be present at the convention of the Free Party, which is to be held in the city. It is expected that he will make a highly interesting speech, and that he will do much to further the cause of free trade.

New York, Nov. 14th.

The President has vacated the Executive Mansion, and he is now living in the White House. The President has been much occupied with the affairs of the government, and he has been absent from the city for some time. He has now returned, and he will be here for some time to come. The President is highly respected by the public, and he has done much to advance the interests of the country.