**SY THOMAS SECHASAS RAAD.

A great voice wakes a foreign land,
And a mighty murmur sweeps the sea,
While nations, damb with wonder, stand.
To note what it may be ;—
The word rolls on like a harricane* breath,
Down with the tyront—come life or death,
France must be free!

Down with the typeas—come life or doth,
France was to free!

A THANKSHIPE.

I thank thee, Father, that I live!

I thank thee for these gifts of thise—
For bending this of fearenly thee,
And stars divise;

For this green earth, where wild, event sire,
Like freest spirit, joyons stray,—
Tor winding stream, and trees, and dowers,
Beaded its way.

Beaded its way.

But more I thank thee for true hearts That beer sweet gifts of love to me, Whom mine enfolds, and feels that this Is love of thee.

Warm from their spirits spreads arot
An atmosphere serene—divine—
Magnetical, like golden haze,
Encircling mine.

To day I biese thee most for power—
It draws me, Father, nearest thee—
To love all thine, e'en though they give
No love to me.

n stillness deep I walk a land /here spirit-forms my footsteps greet nd beauteous thoughts—an angel bas Chaunt low and sweet.

Drear hours I know will darkly come,
Like April days of cloud and rain;
But thus must hearts, like wisty fields,
Grow green again.
J thank thee, Father, that I five!
Though wailings fill this earth of thise;
To labor for thy suffering ones.
Is joy dwinn!

And even I, so weak and poor,
May bear some word of life from Thee;
A beam of hope may reach some heart
Even through me.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE.
