Per fields more green and gay,

Have own signite to their neitye.

To there us with their song:

And they at largon the forest tree.

And sing there all day long.

And sing there all day long.

The Spring, is coming—it is!

And flowers will soon be here,

With perfuse rare to fill the air.

And bid our splitts teleser;

And the versal grais will spring.

And the forest trees look gay;

The hills shall ring with songs we sing.
