The Liberator

AN ADDRESS.

S. F. Gannett, of New York City, the secretary of the New York State Anti-Slavery Society, has been made the delegate from New York to the Anti-Slavery Convention held in Philadelphia last week. He has been a long and faithful worker, and we are happy to welcome him to the ranks of the anti-slavery party.

The Liberator is pleased to report that the anti-slavery movement is gaining ground in New York. Theeditable laws of the state have been amended to prohibit the importation of slaves, and the legislature is now considering a bill to further restrict the traffic in human flesh. We are confident that the anti-slavery movement will continue to make progress in New York, and we look forward to a day when the state will be free from the curse of slavery.

EMANCIPATION AND LIBERTY.

The anti-slavery movement is making great strides in New York. The state has taken steps to end the traffic in human flesh, and the legislature is now considering a bill to further restrict the importation of slaves. We are confident that the anti-slavery movement will continue to make progress in New York, and we look forward to a day when the state will be free from the curse of slavery.

COPY ON INTERVENTION.

The following resolution has been adopted by the New York State Anti-Slavery Society:

Resolved, That we hereby express our approval of the recent action of the federal government in regard to the intervention in the Mexican War. We believe that the United States has a right to interfere in the affairs of other nations, and we are confident that the intervention will be beneficial to the cause of justice and humanity.

The Liberator is pleased to report that the anti-slavery movement is gaining ground in New York. The state has taken steps to end the traffic in human flesh, and the legislature is now considering a bill to further restrict the importation of slaves. We are confident that the anti-slavery movement will continue to make progress in New York, and we look forward to a day when the state will be free from the curse of slavery.

ANNUAL SESSION OF THE MASSACHUSETTS A. S. COUNCIL.

The annual session of the Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Council was held in Boston last week. The council is now preparing to send a mission to the South to investigate the condition of the slaves. We are confident that the mission will be successful in its work, and we look forward to the day when the South will be free from the curse of slavery.
