THE LIBERATOR:

EASTERN VIEWS OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

From the New York Tribune.

The question of the Civil Rights Bill has been put in the hands of the Senate by Senator Sumner, the distinguished Massachusetts Senator, who is now in the Senate of the United States. The bill is as follows:

The bill provides that "the United States shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this act." It also provides for the establishment of federal courts to try cases arising under the act, and for the appointment of federal marshals to execute the provisions of the act.

The bill has been referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, and is expected to be reported favorably. It is hoped that the bill will pass both houses of Congress and be signed by the President.

The bill is a necessary step in the direction of securing equal rights for all citizens of the United States, and should be passed without delay.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

THE LIBERATOR:

Editorial.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

It is hoped that the bill will pass both houses of Congress and be signed by the President.

The bill is a necessary step in the direction of securing equal rights for all citizens of the United States, and should be passed without delay.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

THE LIBERATOR:

Editorial.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

It is hoped that the bill will pass both houses of Congress and be signed by the President.

The bill is a necessary step in the direction of securing equal rights for all citizens of the United States, and should be passed without delay.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

THE LIBERATOR:

Editorial.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.

It is hoped that the bill will pass both houses of Congress and be signed by the President.

The bill is a necessary step in the direction of securing equal rights for all citizens of the United States, and should be passed without delay.

The bill is a just and necessary measure, and the sooner it is passed the better.