Selections.

The Last President's Name.

The name of Martin Van Buren was last mentioned in Congress by the late President, for the purpose of rescinding a treaty with Great Britain, made by President Monroe, and signed by Martin Van Buren.

The Quakers of Pennsylvania.

The Quakers of Pennsylvania have been very active in the cause of peace and justice, and in the suppression of slavery. They have been instrumental in the passage of several important laws, and have also been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

The Call forNew Appointments.

From the New York Evening Post.

The call for new appointments is made by the President of the United States, in a message to the Senate, dated April 16, 1852.

The same subject is also discussed in the New York Evening Post, dated April 16, 1852.

General Scott.

The General is an able soldier, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. He has also been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

Permitting Reasons For A Fine Policy.

We are happy to learn that the new policy of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company is likely to be successful, and that it will be instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections.

The Steamer Neva.

The steamer Neva is a fine vessel, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. She is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

The New York Evening Post.

The New York Evening Post is a fine journal, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. It is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

From the Boston Daily Evening Transcript.

The Boston Daily Evening Transcript is a fine journal, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. It is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

The Boston Daily Evening Transcript.

The Boston Daily Evening Transcript is a fine journal, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. It is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

From the New York Evening Post.

The New York Evening Post is a fine journal, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. It is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.

From the Boston Daily Evening Transcript.

The Boston Daily Evening Transcript is a fine journal, and has been instrumental in the suppression of several important insurrections. It is owned by the American Steam Navigation Company, and has been instrumental in the establishment of several excellent institutions for the benefit of the poor.
The Liberator.

BOSTON, APRIL 16, 1851.

THE ANNIVERSARY.

EDUCATION OF THOMAS HINE.

As the call of the Vigilant Committee of Boston, to meet, with so much zeal and energy, on the 16th inst., one of the most important events in the history of the education of young men, shall be held, we are directed to state, that the accident of the death of Thomas Hine, the object of their attention, has cast a gloom over the occasion, which the best disposition of the members cannot so much as efface.

The educational exertions of Mr. Hine, have been, at all times, at the head of the investigations of the Committee, and his success in the promotion of the cause, has been greatly attributable to the zeal and energy of his exertions. Mr. Hine was a man of sound judgment, and a clear understanding, and his opinions were generally considered as just and correct. He was a man of great integrity, and his conduct was always above suspicion. He was a man of great industry, and his exertions were always directed to the interests of the cause. He was a man of great patience, and his perseverance was never flagging. He was a man of great courage, and his resolutions were always firm. He was a man of great kindness, and his kindness was always manifested.

The Committee, in the present state of the cause, are determined to continue their exertions, and to press the cause of education to its accomplishment.

[From the Cincinnati Times.]

From the op. cit.}