The Necessity of Freeing the Slaves. By H. C. Walling.

The white man's claim that the Negro is inferior to the white man in intelligence is based on prejudice and ignorance. The Negro has been subjected to centuries of oppression, and his intellectual and moral development has been retarded. The intelligence of the Negro is not inherent, but is a result of his environment. The Negro has been denied education and opportunity, and his knowledge and skills have been limited. The Negro's intelligence is not as limited as the white man's claim suggests, and his intellectual and moral development is not as limited as the white man's claim suggests.
