REFUGE OF OPPRESSION.
TO THE PEOPLE.
The National Emancipation Convention, in its addresses to the people of the United States, in the city of Washington, and of the several states throughout the Union, alluded to the sufferings of the African slave, and made the overthrow of slavery the foundation of a scheme for the equality of the races. This, in the opinion of the people of the North, is the only practicable and certain way to effect the object of emancipation. The address to the people of the North, and the address to the people of the South, have been adopted as the mode of proceeding, and the people of the North will act upon them.

A POSITIVE LAW FOR CANADA.
The law passed by the legislature of the province of Canada, permitting the settlement of free Negroes in the province, was adopted by the people of the United States, as the basis of a scheme for the abolition of slavery. This law, for the settlement of free Negroes in the province of Canada, is the basis of the law passed by the legislature of the United States, permitting the settlement of free Negroes in the United States.
