REFUGE OF OPPRESSION.

From the New York Independent.

SUGGESTIONS.

The subject of slavery is one that is constantly before the public. It is the topic of discussion in Congress, in the press, and in the pulpit. It is the subject of debate in the schools, and the theme of conversation in the homes. It is a topic that cannot be avoided, and it is one that cannot be ignored.

Some of our readers may have noticed that the subject of slavery is not mentioned in the Bible. This is because the Bible was written in a time when slavery was not considered to be a sin, and because the Bible was written in a time when the idea of freedom was not as prevalent as it is today.

However, the Bible does contain many passages that speak to the concept of freedom. For example, the Bible states that "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?" (Psalm 27:1). This verse is a reminder that we should not fear anything, because we have the Lord to protect us.

Another passage in the Bible that speaks to the concept of freedom is "The Lord is on my side; I shall not be overthrown; he who contendeth with me shall be overthrown; and all they that hate me shall be condemned." (Psalm 11:7). This verse is a reminder that we should not be afraid of our enemies, because the Lord will protect us.

There are many other passages in the Bible that speak to the concept of freedom, and it is up to us to study them and understand their meaning.

SUGGESTIONS

In conclusion, it is important for us to understand the concept of freedom, and to work towards ensuring that everyone has the right to be free. It is up to us to use our voices to speak out against oppression, and to work towards creating a world where everyone is free.
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

SUMNER'S GREAT SPEECH.

The Crime Against Kansas.

No movement and no planning has been more active in the last few days than a petition for the impeachment of President Johnson. The President has been called on to answer a joint address made by the Senate and the House of Representatives. The petition, signed by a large number of members of both houses, and a large number of citizens, was referred to a committee of six members of the Senate and six members of the House. The committee will report their findings to the Senate, and the Senate will then consider the case.
