THE LIBERATOR.

THE LIBERATOR.

No Union with Slaveholders.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.

BOSTON, JULY 4, 1856.

MEMORIAL CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTEENTH OF JULY.

In the Palace of the Boston Athenaeum, on Saturday, July 4, in honor of the memory of the illustrious patriot, John Adams, a Memorial was held, attended by about six thousand persons, who met to celebrate July 4, the Independence Day of the United States. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles W. Eliot, of the Boston Athenaeum, and was followed by an address by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum, and by Mr. Samuel C. Southworth, of the Boston Athenaeum.
THE LIBERATOR.

AGGREGATION OF PRINCIPLES.

From Washington to New York.

We have long been attached to the principles which are the foundation of the Union. We have always been opposed to any change in the Constitution of the United States, except such as shall be necessary to perfect the Union. We have always been opposed to the overthrow of the Constitution, except such as shall be necessary to preserve the Union.

We have long been attached to the principles which are the foundation of the Union. We have always been opposed to any change in the Constitution of the United States, except such as shall be necessary to perfect the Union. We have always been opposed to the overthrow of the Constitution, except such as shall be necessary to preserve the Union.

We have long been attached to the principles which are the foundation of the Union. We have always been opposed to any change in the Constitution of the United States, except such as shall be necessary to perfect the Union. We have always been opposed to the overthrow of the Constitution, except such as shall be necessary to preserve the Union.

We have long been attached to the principles which are the foundation of the Union. We have always been opposed to any change in the Constitution of the United States, except such as shall be necessary to perfect the Union. We have always been opposed to the overthrow of the Constitution, except such as shall be necessary to preserve the Union.

We have long been attached to the principles which are the foundation of the Union. We have always been opposed to any change in the Constitution of the United States, except such as shall be necessary to perfect the Union. We have always been opposed to the overthrow of the Constitution, except such as shall be necessary to preserve the Union.