The Liberator

Anniversary Speech at New York.

Our last number was largely occupied with the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Anti-Slavery Society, which was held on the 20th of April, at the Society's Rooms, in the presence of a large and respectable assemblage of men and women. The anniversary speech was delivered by Dr. Channing, and was received with the most hearty approval. The subject of the speech was the abolition of slavery, and the importance of the occasion was greatly enhanced by the fact that it was the 25th anniversary of the Society's organization. The speech was delivered with great force and eloquence, and was received with the most enthusiastic applause. It was well received, and was regarded as a great triumph for the cause of liberty and humanity.

POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS.

The political considerations of the present time are of great importance, and require careful attention. The country is now in a state of great political ferment, and the issues involved are of the utmost consequence. The question of slavery is one of the greatest political questions of the day, and it is essential that it should be fully understood and properly disposed of. The abolition of slavery is the first step towards the establishment of a just and equitable society. It is essential that the country should be free from the curse of slavery, and that the rights of all men should be equally protected.

SOCIAL CONSIDERATIONS.

The social considerations of the present time are also of great importance, and require careful attention. The country is now in a state of great social ferment, and the issues involved are of the utmost consequence. The question of slavery is one of the greatest social questions of the day, and it is essential that it should be fully understood and properly disposed of. The abolition of slavery is the first step towards the establishment of a just and equitable society. It is essential that the country should be free from the curse of slavery, and that the rights of all men should be equally protected.

RELIGIOUS CONSIDERATIONS.

The religious considerations of the present time are also of great importance, and require careful attention. The country is now in a state of great religious ferment, and the issues involved are of the utmost consequence. The question of slavery is one of the greatest religious questions of the day, and it is essential that it should be fully understood and properly disposed of. The abolition of slavery is the first step towards the establishment of a just and equitable society. It is essential that the country should be free from the curse of slavery, and that the rights of all men should be equally protected.

In conclusion, I would say that the abolition of slavery is the first step towards the establishment of a just and equitable society. It is essential that the country should be free from the curse of slavery, and that the rights of all men should be equally protected. In this respect, I would say that the abolition of slavery is the first step towards the establishment of a just and equitable society. It is essential that the country should be free from the curse of slavery, and that the rights of all men should be equally protected.
ANNUAL MEETING

AMERICAN ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

FIRST DAY—MONDAY, MAY 27.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Charles Sumner, in the absence of Mr. Garrison, the President, Mr. Lincoln, the Vice President, Mr. Brown, the Secretary, and Mr. Channing, the Treasurer. The meeting adjourned Wednesday morning, at ten o'clock.

From the American Anti-Slavery Society.

The American Anti-Slavery Society, as a body, is in harmony with the principles and purposes of the Emancipation Proclamation. We believe that the time has come when all the blessings of freedom and civilization shall be extended to the whole race. We are therefore prepared to cordially co-operate with the United States Government in the work of emancipation. We believe that the government of the United States is the only agency which can accomplish this work. We are therefore prepared to support the government in its efforts to carry out the principles of the Emancipation Proclamation. We believe that the American Anti-Slavery Society is the only body which can accomplish this work. We are therefore prepared to support the society in its efforts to carry out the principles of the Emancipation Proclamation.