SELECTIONS.

Dr. Cather and American Slavery.

RE vision of the London Ecclesiastical History of the Nineteenth Century, as it appears in the London Expositor, we are enabled to present the following extracts from that admirable work of Mr. T. H. Green, who has been so long engaged in the study of our national history, as to have acquired a deep and comprehensive knowledge of the subject. We are enabled to present a portion of the work, which will be found to contain a great deal of information, and which will be found to be of the greatest importance to the public interest. WHEN DAY.

When the sun's departing bright
About the sleepy sky,
And the smart birds murmur here and there about the deep.

When the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the east,
And the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the west.

When the sun's departing bright
About the sleepy sky,
And the smart birds murmur here and there about the deep.

When the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the east,
And the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the west.

When the sun's departing bright
About the sleepy sky,
And the smart birds murmur here and there about the deep.

When the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the east,
And the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the west.

When the sun's departing bright
About the sleepy sky,
And the smart birds murmur here and there about the deep.

When the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the east,
And the world's a-dying, and the stars are shining in the west.
