Refuge of Oppression.

COMPLIMENTARY TO GENERAL HUNTINGTON
during his visit to the United States, 1857.

To Mr. Washington, Editor of the Liberator.

Hon. SAMUEL J. HUNTINGTON.

BOSTON, March 15, 1861.

Dear Sir:

I have received your letter of the 31st ult., and am glad to learn that you are on your way to the United States, to visit the scenes of liberty and freedom, and to see the masterpieces of American architecture. I earnestly hope that you will have a pleasant journey, and that you will enjoy the hospitality of the American people.

I remain, Sir, yours truly,

SAMUEL J. HUNTINGTON.

Boston, March 15, 1861.

SELECTIONS.

SLAVE PROPERTY OF COLORS.

Extract from a letter written by a colored man in the Union army, to his brother in the North:

Philadelphia, March 10, 1861.

Dear Brother:

I am in the army now, and am doing my best to serve my country. I have been in the war for two years, and have seen many things. I am glad that I am able to serve my country, and I hope that I shall be able to return home soon.

I am well, and I hope that you are well too. I send you my love, and I hope that you will write to me soon.

Your loving brother,

[Signature]

Philadelphia, March 10, 1861.

INHABITANTS OF STATEN ISLAND.

Extract from a letter written by a colored man in the Union army, to his brother in the North:

Staten Island, March 15, 1861.

Dear Brother:

I am in the army now, and am doing my best to serve my country. I have been in the war for two years, and have seen many things. I am glad that I am able to serve my country, and I hope that I shall be able to return home soon.

I am well, and I hope that you are well too. I send you my love, and I hope that you will write to me soon.

Your loving brother,

[Signature]

Staten Island, March 15, 1861.

WHY THE SOUTHERN MAN SAID AND DIED.

It is said that the Southern man said and died:

"I am a slave, and I am happy.

I have a master, and I have a home.

I am content, and I am free.

I am a slave, and I am happy.

I have a master, and I have a home.

I am content, and I am free."
THE LIBERATOR.

MARCH 16.

THE QUESTION.

THESE questions are often asked in Pennsylvania. It has been necessary to go through the country, and frequently it has been necessary to do so in order to obtain sufficient labor for various industries and enterprises. The question is asked, "What is the right of the child to be supported by the parent?" It is a question that is often asked, and it is a question that is often asked in a self-interested manner. The answer is, "The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

MR. GRANGER MAKING A POLICY SPEECH.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the parent to be supported by the child?" The answer is, "The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

BLACK CLAY.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the child to be supported by the parent?" The answer is, "The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

dollar

SEWING MACHINES.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the parent to be supported by the child?" The answer is, "The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

THE BRITISH REVIEWS.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the child to be supported by the parent?" The answer is, "The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the parent to be supported by the child?" The answer is, "The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

SELF-CONTRIBUTIONS OF THE BIBLE.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the child to be supported by the parent?" The answer is, "The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the child to be supported by the parent is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

LINDA.

The question was asked, "What is the right of the parent to be supported by the child?" The answer is, "The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a natural right." It is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society. The right of the parent to be supported by the child is a right that is fundamental to the welfare of the child and the parent, and it is a right that is necessary for the maintenance of a just society.

NEW SERIES OF VOLUMES EXCELLENT AT THE AVENUE, 1498, NEW YORK;
AND AT THE STORES OF

WILLIAM H. GREENWOOD.

WILLIAM H. GREENWOOD.