Emancipation Day at Dickinsonville, Canada West.

This day — Memorial Day — is one of unison with all the moral and religious churches of the land. It is a day of thanksgiving, of prayer, of worship, of praise. It is a day of holy gladness, of joyful exultation, of pure and earnest self-sacrifice. The spirit of the day is one of holy gladness, of joyful exultation, of pure and earnest self-sacrifice. The spirit of the day is one of holy gladness, of joyful exultation, of pure and earnest self-sacrifice. The spirit of the day is one of holy gladness, of joyful exultation, of pure and earnest self-sacrifice. The spirit of the day is one of holy gladness, of joyful exultation, of pure and earnest self-sacrifice.

The Richmond Union & Dispatch of the Charleston Mercury, which claims to speak for the Confederacy, gives an account of the most important events of the week. The Union has been in a state of insurrection for several weeks, but the people are not yet so well informed as to be able to give a correct account of the condition of affairs.
