Refuge of Oppression.

The Southern Field of the War.

We are receiving reports from Southern sources which indicate that the war is about to break out in earnest. The South has been preparing for this eventuality for some time, and now that the North has declared its intention to interfere with the institution of slavery, the Southern States are determined to defend it at all costs.

The Democracy of the South.

The following is an account of the election in the Southern States. The Southern States have always been a stronghold of the Democratic party, and the recent election has once again demonstrated their loyalty to that party. The voters have shown a united front in support of the institution of slavery, and have elected representatives who will work to protect it.

Selections.

From the New York Tribune.

The North and the South.

The North and the South are divided by a deep chasm. The North, which prides itself on its democratic principles, finds it difficult to understand how the South can continue to support the institution of slavery. The South, on the other hand, regards the North as a land of freedom and equality, and is determined to defend its own way of life.

The Election in the South.

The Southern States have elected representatives who will work to protect the institution of slavery. The votes were cast in favor of candidates who support the South's way of life, and who are determined to defend it against the North's interference.

The South's Position.

The South is prepared for war, and is determined to defend its way of life. The North, on the other hand, is divided and uncertain. It is clear that the South will not be defeated easily, and that the war will be long and bloody.
THE LIBERATOR.

THE AMBIGUITY AND THE WAR.

[Columns of text discussing the ambiguity and war, with various headings and paragraphs.]
THE LIBERATOR.

LETTER FROM S. H. WELLS, Jr.

Boston, July 23, 1857.

Mr. Editor:

Some time ago I stopped at your paper and was much pleased with it. I have been coming to your paper every week. I have read the issues of your paper and have been very much interested in it.

I have recently read a book on the subject of slavery and I have been very much impressed by the arguments presented. I believe that your paper is doing a great deal to help to bring about the abolition of slavery.

I am a strong supporter of the abolition of slavery and I believe that your paper is doing a great deal to help to bring about this end. I am very interested in the work of your paper and I look forward to reading the issues of your paper in the future.

I am a strong supporter of the abolition of slavery and I believe that your paper is doing a great deal to help to bring about this end. I am very interested in the work of your paper and I look forward to reading the issues of your paper in the future.

S. H. WELLS, Jr.

BOSTON, JULY 23, 1857.

PEACE AND ANTISLAVERY IN AMERICA.

Our country is in a state of great disturbance. The conflict between the North and South is growing worse. The people of the North are determined to do away with slavery and the people of the South are determined to keep it.

I believe that the only way to end this conflict is to have a peaceful solution. The people of the North should be given the right to decide whether they want slavery or not. The people of the South should be given the same right.

I believe that the only way to end this conflict is to have a peaceful solution. The people of the North should be given the right to decide whether they want slavery or not. The people of the South should be given the same right.

I am a strong supporter of the abolition of slavery and I believe that your paper is doing a great deal to help to bring about this end. I am very interested in the work of your paper and I look forward to reading the issues of your paper in the future.

S. H. WELLS, Jr.

BOSTON, JULY 23, 1857.