Our Foreign Relations

The Hon. Charles Sumner's Speech at the Cooper Institute, New-York City.

September 10, 1850.

Our Foreign Relations

The subject of our Foreign Relations, with such a public feeling of the necessity of such a subject, for the first time in history, is one which not only requires, but demands, a public statement. The subject of our Foreign Relations is one which is not only of the highest interest to ourselves, but of the highest interest to the world. The subject of our Foreign Relations is one which is not only of the highest interest to ourselves, but of the highest interest to the world.

The subject of our Foreign Relations is one which is not only of the highest interest to ourselves, but of the highest interest to the world. The subject of our Foreign Relations is one which is not only of the highest interest to ourselves, but of the highest interest to the world.
