THE LIBERATOR.

VOL. XXXIV. NO. 6. BOSTON, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1864. WHOLE NO. 1782.

Illustrations.

Our Own Patrons.

A few days since, in one of our principal cities, a gentleman, who was called to attend to a sick man, fell into the room of an invalid lady, and was so much struck with her beauty, that he determined to make his attentions known to her. The lady, however, declined to accept them, and the gentleman was forced to withdraw. This incident, which might have been spoken of as a mere trifle, was, however, of great importance. For, as the gentleman was a member of the Reform League, he determined to make use of his influence in the cause of liberty, and to work for the emancipation of the negroes. He accordingly proceeded to the residence of the lady, and, after a long and decisive argument, succeeded in persuading her to join the league. From this time, the lady became a zealous and active supporter of the cause, and the gentleman was enabled to make considerable progress in the movement.

Circulation of the League.

The circulation of the league has been increasing rapidly. The number of members has now reached 10,000, and it is expected to increase still further. The league has been very successful in its efforts to obtain a larger number of members. It has been able to gain the support of many of the principal men in the country, and this has greatly assisted in its success. The league has also been able to obtain the support of many of the principal newspapers, and this has been of great service in its efforts to spread its influence.

The progress of the league has been marked by a number of important victories. It has been able to obtain the support of many of the principal states, and this has been of great service in its efforts to carry on the movement. The league has also been able to obtain the support of many of the principal political parties, and this has been of great service in its efforts to spread its influence.

The league has been able to obtain the support of many of the principal politicians, and this has been of great service in its efforts to carry on the movement. The league has also been able to obtain the support of many of the principal newspapers, and this has been of great service in its efforts to spread its influence.

The progress of the league has been marked by a number of important victories. It has been able to obtain the support of many of the principal states, and this has been of great service in its efforts to carry on the movement. The league has also been able to obtain the support of many of the principal political parties, and this has been of great service in its efforts to spread its influence.