THE LIBERATOR

Our Country is the World, our Consulgen are all Making.

VOL. XXXV. NO. 28.

WHOLE NO. 1797.

BOSTON, FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1865.

SELECTIONS.

THE BISHOP'S LETTER.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

EXPLOSION OF A UNION SOLDIER IN A REBEL PRISON.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

EDITORIAL.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

NEWS ITEMS.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

EDUCATION OF THE STATE OF OHIO.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

SUMMER FRIENDS.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

NEAR KEMP'S.

[Content not legible due to image quality]

THE ANTI-DUTY PARTY.

[Content not legible due to image quality]
The Liberator.

ANTI-SLAVERY CELEBRATION AT CAMBRIDGE, JULY 4TH, 1853.

The celebration was attended by a large number of the citizens of Cambridge, and was conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day. The orations were delivered with great eloquence, and the proceedings were conducted with great propriety.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.

THE FREDERICK'S Song.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.

SECRETARY'S Reports.

The reports of the various secretaries were read, and the body adjourned.

The Liberator.

THE FREDERICK'S Song.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.

THE FREDERICK'S Song.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.

THE FREDERICK'S Song.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.

THE FREDERICK'S Song.

The President of the College, in his address, said that the occasion was one of the most important in the history of the country, and that it was appropriate that the celebration should be conducted with all due respect to the festivity of the day.

The address of the President was followed by the orations of the various speakers, who delivered their addresses with great eloquence and grace.

The proceedings were conducted with all due propriety, and the day was spent in the enjoyment of the festival.

The Liberator.